Presented by Susan Woodley RDH - Manager Professional Education - Philips

The current and sometimes shocking health behaviors and trends in the younger generation can influence their oral and systemic health. The dental professional has an opportunity during the dental visit to identify risk behaviors and intervene with the teenager to make positive health choices. Examining high risk behaviors and gender differences prepare the dental professional to initiate conversations that will provide guidance with the health decisions that face the youth of today and includes: understanding dietary issues; recognizing various risk behaviors; enhancing intervention skills; and, customizing and implementing treatment strategies. What the Dental Professional Needs to Know”

Most of us realize that tobacco smoking can have a negative impact on the oral environment and overall health. Other products are beginning to replace tobacco smoking, but are they any better for oral health? Recent news reports warn us that alternative smoking products can have unexpected consequences that we need to be prepared to discuss with our patients.
